just before 6 p.m. Thursday night—"a setback" in rescue planning.

The pre-dawn explosion today caused lights to flicker for several seconds at the company store where a handful of people maintained an all-night vigil.

The 6 p.m. explosion Thursday night spewed flames and smoke from the Llewellyn entrance—about three miles from the scene of the explosion today.

Vice President William P. Sullivan, president of Consolidation Coal Co., Monday night told a news conference before the latest blast that there was still hope that the trapped men were alive. "But there is no reason to be optimistic."

At daybreak today, the 78 had been in the mine for 48 hours, hot counting their work shift before the first blast. They had to contend with heat and smoke and the ever-present possibility of a buildup of methane gas, always present in coal mines and deadly when it reaches sizeable proportions.

Anniversary of Slaying of Kennedy

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some in prayer and some in person, Americans look today to a flame flickering on a windswept Potomac hill to say to John F. Kennedy, "We have not forgotten."

From Dallas, Tex., where the 35th president of the United States was slain by an assassin five years ago, to the New York home of his remarried widow, Jacqueline Onassis, special masses and other services were planned.

Visitors to the grave at Arlington National Cemetery were expected to total in the thousands, trickling by the Cape Cod memorial built in 1937, the eternal flame and the floral tributes, including the wreath President Johnson has sent every Nov. 22 since 1963.

An estimated 24 million people have visited Kennedy's grave and the flame that has burned with only slight interruptions since his burial three days after his death.

Across the river in the nation's capital, worshippers attend a noon Mass at St. Matthews Cathedral, where the Re-

Taylor's Return for Funeral

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Draped in furs, Elizabeth Taylor and husband Richard Burton arrived by plane Thursday from Paris for the funeral of her father, Francis Taylor, 68, who died Wednesday.

Miss Taylor, wearing dark glasses and heavy mink coat, and Burton, in a thick fur jacket reaching to his knees, waited until the other 68 passengers aboard the Air France jet departed and went through customs. Then the couple, who have been making a movie in Paris, hurried through a group of waiting newsmen.

quiem Mass for Kennedy was held.

Another memorial Mass was planned in Georgetown's Holy Trinity Church, Kennedy's home parish during his Senate days.

The Very Rev. Oscar L. Huber, who administered last rites to Kennedy five years ago, recites Mass at Dallas' Holy Trinity Church.

Another Mass was planned in Hyannis Port, Mass., home of Kennedy's parents.

Kennedy's mother, Rose, said in an interview for NBC's "Today" show: "Jack enjoyed being president. You read about some presidents thinking it's a lonely life, talking about the disadvantages. But I think he really revelled in the opportunity."

A candlelight vigil began Thursday night in front of New York's St. Patrick Cathedral, site of Requiem Mass for Kennedy's brother, Robert, slain last June in Los Angeles.

FRENCH TO (from page one)

Members of the "Group of 10" at the Bonn meeting, the Western world's leading financial powers. The Bank of International Settlements in Switzerland reportedly offered an additional $950 million.

Members of the French delegation admitted privately that devaluation of the franc was certain. But it was a severe blow to President Charles de Gaulle, celebrating his 78th birthday today. A week ago he said devaluation would be "the worst possible absurdity."

The crisis resulted from the large-scale exchange of francs for West German marks by speculators acting in the belief that France would have to devalue her currency because of economic setbacks stemming from last spring's worker-student crisis and that the West Germans would have to increase the value of their mark because of the heavy surpluses they have piled up from exports.

Throughout the Bonn meeting, the West Germans refused to revalue the mark although many experts are convinced it is bound to come. The West Germans resisted it because it would make their goods more expensive and threaten the permanent loss of important markets.

Instead the West Germans agreed to an indirect revaluation, reductions in the tax rate on exports and in the tax on imports. Both will benefit France since the two countries trade more with each other than with anyone else, and British and American exporters also should benefit.

Jerusalem Blast Leaves Many Dead

JERUSALEM (AP) — A mammoth charge of explosives packed inside a parked car blasted a crowded market place in the Jewish sector of the Holy City today, killing 11 persons and wounding 55.

Within seconds, the market, jammed with Jewish shoppers stocking up for the Sabbath weekend, was a scene of terror and chaos as hundreds fled in panic.

It was the worst sabotage incident in the 20 years of the Jewish state's existence.

Prime Minister Levi Eshkol interrupted a holiday to call a high-level Cabinet session on the incident.

Police immediately cordoned off the perimeter of Jerusalem, halting all Arabs attempting to enter the Old City. Police said 500 Arabs were interrogated.

Some Jews halted an Arab taxi, chased away the occupants and wrecked the car. Others were heard shouting, "Kill the Arabs, Kill the Arabs!"

of earth's plenty, are known throughout all civilizations, present or past. They were held in ancient Egypt, Greece and Rome and are common among today's nations.

But in America, Thanksgiving holds a peculiar national relevance matched perhaps only by the 4th of July. None of our holidays is more truly American, for it represents the heartfelt joy of our founders after surviving the tremendous perils of their first year in a new land.

That first Thanksgiving was a giant stepping-stone of the American spirit, and that is what Thanksgiving has meant to us ever since—the blessing of our victory over ordeal, the giving of thanks for our continuing survival amid manifold dangers, the celebration of the promise of our potential eternity as a united people.

There is no real reason for a conflict between Thanksgiving and Christmas. Surely we have room in our hearts, enough time in our year, to give each season its splendid due.

Banks Major Lenders to State Farmers

Arkansas banks remain a major source of credit and other financial services to farmers in our state, according to Ray Lawrence, vice president and Cashier, The First National Bank of Hope, and R.M. La Grone Jr., president of Citizens National Bank of Hope, who represent the Arkansas Bankers Association as Hempstead County Key Bankers. During 1967, the banks maintained their leadership in agricultural credit services.

Based on the 27th annual farm lending summary of the Agricultural Committee of The American Bankers Association, Mr. Lawrence and Mr. La Grone reported that at the beginning of the year, Arkansas banks were helping farmers with $218 million in loans, 5 per cent more than a year previous. This total included $118 million in production loans and $100 million in farm mortgages. At the same time, $241 million in farm loans was held by life insurance companies; $88 million by the Federal Land Banks; $105 million by Production Credit Associations; and $20 million in nonreal estate loans, plus $7 million in real estate loans by the Farmers Home Administration. About 53 per cent of the production credit extended by lending institutions to Arkansas farmers came from banks.

Mr. La Grone and Mr. Lawrence said that "bankers in Arkansas are conscious of the large capital investments required in agriculture today and are making a concerted effort through improved lending programs to meet these changing credit demands of the state's farmers."

The increased use of credit by farmers, according to Mr. La Grone and Mr. Lawrence, has been accompanied by a substantial gain in the total assets of farm families. Therefore, in the aggregate, the equity position of farmers, contrary to public opinion, is being maintained at a satisfactory level. Nationally, farm families have $231 billion on their own funds invested in agriculture. This represents 82 per cent of the total capital requirements of farmers.

Mr. Lawrence and Mr. La Grone stressed the importance of farmers and bankers working closely together to improve farm financial arrangements. He reported that nine out of ten insured banks throughout the country had agricultural loans outstanding, with nearly 98 per cent of the banks in Arkansas extending credit to farm people.

Whistle Blows on Nude Caper for Calendar

By GEORGE McARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — It was just a dull session of the National Assembly until the lady deputy blew the whistle on the nude calendar caper.

One of her male colleagues, she said, had just brought back into the country enough illegal calendars to plaster the house with pinups.

It wasn't that Mrs. Kieu Mong Thu was necessarily against pinups. She did feel, however, that her colleagues were making too much of a good thing out of their overseas junkies.

The target was Tran Duy Tu, leader of the biggest political grouping in the assembly. Amid desk banging, he shouted, "foul!" and said the lady was attempting to undermine his political foundations.

The determined lady deputy had more ammunition. Along with a few other members of the assembly's anticorruption committee, she drove out to Tan Son Nhut airport to see the customs officials.

Sure enough, they had impounded about 1,000 neatly rolled and lavishly illustrated calendars brought in a few days before by Deputy Tu. They also had two big suitcases, weighing about 200 pounds each, which they had not opened but were holding for "instructions."

Mrs. Thu noted to her fellow deputies that such a bundle of calendars would bring a tidy profit on Saigon's newsstands. They are freely sold although they have been banned since the stringent reform decrees of President Ngo Dinh Diem some 10 years ago.

This aspect of the matter did not concern Mrs. Thu. She was after the assemblyman who junket overseas—more than half the 137-member assembly has gone abroad this year, some on missions to South Africa and Latin America.

MILLWOOD ROAD

Editor The Star: I appreciated the letter printed in Hope Star Nov. 20 signed "Just Plain Fishermen." I'm an enthusiastic fisherman and like good roads wherever I travel. I'm also a landowner and a taxpayer.

For several years we have made personal pleas, telephone calls, written letters, and voted for county judges who promised to do better than the previous one, but in our community, no one has built any all-weather roads yet. In addition to people traveling to work and the mail carrier delivering the mail, two buses travel each of our roads every school day. Many places you can not meet or pass a car on the road for fear of hitting the underbrush or slipping in a ditch. I'm not worried about a road by my cabin—just a decent one by my home and school.

I would also like to know if there is anything any of your readers can do to help us get our roads gravelled. Pleas from school authorities, PTA's, bus drivers, mail men, and local citizens have failed. Hempstead County is supposed to be one of the wealthier counties in the state. Why can't everyone have good roads? Sincerely yours,

MRS. N. B. COLEMAN

Editor The Star: Dear "Just Plain Fishermen":

Your letter of Nov. 20th discussing the county road going to Corbells Landing on Millwood concerns me quite a lot as I too am just a "Plain Fisherman," with a modest cabin on that road.

I have never asked for any special favors from any of our county officials although I not only supported some of them but campaigned vigorously for them, so that rules out my saying to you — "You didn't vote right."

It is my understanding that brags have been made on how much money our county judge has accumulated. I contend that this is not a profit-making office but that the primary concern of a county judge is to maintain our county roads.

For two years I have begged for gravel for this road and all I have gotten was promises also.

The only advice I could give you other fishermen and taxpayers of this county is to do like I did and jack your car up and put on your chains (mud-grip tires won't help) and go in and get your boats and fishing equipment out of there and forget about using your cabins.

Sees Loophole in Vehicle Registration

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state's tax assessors told the Arkansas Legislative Council Thursday that the present method of vehicle registration contains a loophole that could cost local governments considerable sums of money next year.

The assessors said motorists should be required to register their vehicle over the first six months of the year instead of over a 12-month period.

Motorists renew their vehicle registrations on a staggered basis.

Dale Shelton, president of the Arkansas Association of Tax Assessors, said persons only have to show proof of assessment once a year, even though they might have more than one vehicle to be registered anew at different times.

Shelton said motorists would have to assess all his vehicles before the assessment books are closed if the staggered system is squeezed into six months.

State Revenue Commissioner B. Bryan Larey and Joe Burlingame, director of the state Assessment Co-ordination Division, agreed that a problem existed.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

A FINAL SOLUTION

Dear Helen: My wife and I have a solution to the Social Security vs. Working Wives controversy: Divorce!

As you pointed out, a working wife is entitled to half of the sum of her husband's benefits, or whatever benefits she has earned herself, but not both. A divorcee receives certain benefits. And she can also collect her full worker's social security.

So we shall get a divorce and "live in sin." By that time, there won't be much "sin" connected with it anyway.

— SMART

Dear Smart: ....Sour, man, sour!

If the S.S. men catch up with you, "them apples" won't make pie in the sky, believe me!—H. Dear Helen: My kids are determined to keep me alive forever. I used to smoke until they ganged up on me and scared me out of it. It was bad enough reading cancer articles that just "happened" to be left on my desk, but when they printed "Danger," "Death," "Widowmaker," "Orphan Sticks" on every one of my cigarettes— in red letters— each time I left a pack lying around, that did it. I figured if it bothered them that much I'd quit. I haven't regretted it.

But today I got this clipping on my desk. The headline said, "Alcohol is Suspected Cause of Cancer." I fear my kids have struck again.

If I give up social drinking, they'll be after me next on coffee. I hear it is also suspected of being harmful, like contributing to heart trouble, etc.

What can you do about striking kids? — NOT THAT PURE, BUT MODERATE

Dear N.T.P.: Strike back! Hang "sugar diabetes" signs on their pop bottles. — H.

Dear Helen: Three weeks ago my mother fell and broke her hip. She is in her 70s and will be a long time recovering. She can't go home, as she will need help, and she lives alone.

We have a small house and four children. Last year she following a minor operation. After the first week, she started telling the children what to do, and it was usually different from what their father and I said. Things got very tense, with her criticizing our rules, and the kids saying they couldn't take three bosses.

I know it's my duty to care for my mother, but I'm afraid it will break up my family. Isn't there some other way? She really isn't very happy with us, as young people get on her nerves. — H.D.M.

Dear H: Convoluted homes are part of the Medicare program and some are excellent. Perhaps your mother might prefer expert care to family turmoil, especially if you visit her each day so that she won't feel "pushed aside." Why not ask her doctor to make the suggestion? — H.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Television's cops-and-robbers shows are usually long on chases but short on experimentation with form.

But "Ironside," that solid, substantial saga of law and order, tried something a little different and quite complicated Thursday night.

It was not completely successful, but it was a nice try to break out of the traditional mold of setting up a crime and then running the criminal to earth.

The NBC show opened with Chief Ironside's devoted girl assistant being critically wounded as a bystander in a holdup. The business of catching the miscreant proceeded, laced with bulletins on the young policeman's condition. Of course, we seasoned TV viewers knew she would pull through. But her mishap permitted a worried Chief Ironside to look back on the circumstances that first brought them together.

Thus the program was handling two stories at one time. It was done by the use of flashbacks, which permitted Raymond Burr to get out of that wheelchair and onto his feet for a bit. But it was also confusing since the story moved from present to past without proper signals to the viewer. In fact, about the only way one could tell which crime was under investigation in any one scene was to note whether Chief Ironside was in his wheelchair.

"Dragnet," which followed, consisted of another of Jack Webb's sugar-coated lectures on the work of the police force. The subject was the policeman, her training and responsibilities.

The most slender of stories was the excuse for the exposition—a visiting journalist on a headquarters tour with Sergeant Friday. These barely-concealed pitches about police have been popping up regularly on the venerable series this season and it appears that the show's ratings have improved with them. In the most recent Nielsen report, "Dragnet" was 13th in the popularity list.

netted more than $30,000. Brother Daniel McMullen said Thursday, Brother Daniel is principal of the coeducational institution, which is operated by the Christian Brothers and the Sisters of Providence.

The drive includes doorbell ringing, stopping shoppers in the street to ask for donations and writing letters to businesses.

Tickets to a festival this weekend are being sold at 25 cents each. The students have raised $24,000 through this project alone, Brother Daniel said.

Diocesan officials are to meet next week to decide the fate of Providence, a diocese source said. Father Gillan had said that unless the $570,000 was raised to erase the district's deficit, one or two schools might be closed.

Two Receive Hearts a Second Time

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two patients received new hearts for the second time Thursday after earlier transplants failed.

Everett Thomas, 47, the nation's longest-surviving heart transplant, received a second replacement at St. Luke's Hospital in Houston, Tex. His condition today was listed as satisfactory.

Darrell Hammarley, 56, received a second heart at Stanford University Hospital, Stanford, Calif., after the first replacement began beating erratically within six hours. His condition today was given as fair.

Hammarley, a retired airline pilot from San Jose, Calif., was the first in history to undergo a second heart transplant. Dr. Norman E. Shumway, a pioneer heart transplant surgeon, was in charge of the surgical team.

Dr. Denton E. Cooley headed the team operating both times on Thomas, who received his first donor heart May 3 in the world's ninth heart transplant.

Thomas, an accountant, was discharged from the hospital last summer and began work as a trust consultant for a bank in Houston.

He was readmitted to the hospital last month and it was announced he was showing signs of rejecting the heart. His condition was reported as serious shortly before the second trans-

Just Credit the Students

SEATTLE (AP) — Six third-graders at Madrona Elementary School were credited today with saving a textbook publisher from reprinting a math book containing the right problems, but some wrong answers.

The pupils—Curt Smith, David Bierman, Allison Bland, Charles Klyn, Brett Bodemer and Jacqueline Boyle—were working as a group with a math enrichment text, the teacher, Mrs. Carole Grombo, explained.

The hospital did not identify Thomas' second donor but said she was a 47-year-old woman who died of a brain hemorrhage shortly before his second operation began.

The Stanford donors also were not named. Hammarley, a pilot for 23 years, was forced to retire about a year ago. He had three heart attacks.

He received his first transplant Wednesday. Six hours later the organ developed an erratic rhythm and showed a below normal over-all performance.

The removed heart—the first transplant—will be autopsied to determine what went wrong, doctors said. It was extremely available and it shows the need for organ banks to meet emergencies, they added.

Hammarley's second operation was described as "relatively simple and went very well." He was Shumway's eighth heart transplant patient.

The second Thomas operation which required more than two hours to complete, took longer than some of the previous Houston transplant operations. Cooley said the team encountered minor problems with "scar tissue from the first operation."

Cooley said he was "more confident" of the second transplant.

"I have a lot more miles on me than when we did the first—I am more confident of the surgical procedure now," he said. The Cooley team has performed 15 heart transplants, including Thomas' second.

Cats Hope to Extend Win Streak

by RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

It's been a mighty long time since August 14, the day the Hope Bobcats of 1968 met for the first time. Tonight ends that association, as the Cats play host to the Arkadelphia Badgers in Hammond Stadium at 7:30 p.m.

Through victory and defeat the Bobcats came back the next Monday, undaunted by injuries to their best counterparts and willing to play wherever and whenever needed. The record 4-5-1 is disappointing, but records are thrown away this evening.

For Hope, the game would amount to a three-game winning streak, something local fans haven't seen nor heard of since the championship year of '64. And with a good crop of underclassmen needing a winning tradition to uphold, this alone should be a sufficient challenge to those senior Bobcats.

Many Bobcats will wrap up their football careers forever tonight; some will go on to college. But they mean the same value to the team, because they stayed out to the finish. Those seniors are Larry Massanelli, Ralph Miller, Rodney Jones, Jim Singleton, Simmons Smith, Mike Monroe, Jerry McWilliams, Carroll Beck, Terry Beard, Danny Reyegga, and Mickey Allen.

Other seniors out with injuries are James Rowe, John Kemp, Randy Quillin, and David Jones. These boys left a good account of themselves, and the unhurt ones get a chance to take it out on the Arkadelphia Badgers.

They will be taking on the best Arkadelphia team in two decades, as the club is now 7-2 on the season after going 1-21 the past two seasons. The Badgers have only seven or eight seniors, also, but they probably recall the fact that they haven't beaten Hope since 1961.

Hope's chance rely almost entirely on a very young offensive line, which carved out four drives totaling 302 yards in the 14-7 Nashville victory last week. From tackle to tackle there are three juniors and two sophoms, and only one of the five (Larry McWilliams) has kept his guard spot the whole season. Jim Alford moved to tackle from fullback after the first game.

That vaulted Bobcat defense, which hasn't allowed a sustained touchdown drive in eleven quarters, must be depended upon to hold the Badgers below ten points. Otherwise extra points will make the difference, and Arkadelphia has a good kick in left-footed Jim Hurley, while Bobcat Ronny Brown has a bad leg.

The winner will claim third place in 4-AA West behind Malvern and Fairview, who meet for the money tonight in Camden. That winner will play Magnolia on Thanksgiving Day for the 4-AA championship, and the Panthers are now 12-0 after licking El Dorado Washington last night.

But Hope and Arkadelphia, probably the two most-closely matched teams around, will give a good crowd the kind of game that you will still remember next fall, win or lose. On the feeling that the Bobcats want it just a little bit more and that the defense will do its job, I call for Hope to pull it out after a dogfight, 13-7, in a close one on statistics.

Ohio State, Michigan in Showdown

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer
Ohio State and Michigan, after a season of playing ring around the roses, get down to the real pickings Saturday when they slug it out face-to-face on college footballs last big weekend, a weekend of champions.

The second-ranked Buckeyes and fourth-ranked Wolverines climb into center ring at Columbus, Ohio, with the winner taking away a bouquet that includes the Big Ten title, a shot at top national rankings and a trip to sunny Southern California on New Year's Day.

Several other titles and trips also hang in the balance Saturday when seventh-ranked Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma shoot for at least a share of the Big Eight crown; Arkansas, No. 9, guns for at least a part of the Southwest Conference title; Yale and Harvard clash for the Ivy League top spot, and Wyoming and Arizona try for the Western Athletic Conference title.

Top-ranked Southern California, already Rose Bowl-bound, is a heavy favorite against UCLA in a televised game to wrap up sole possession of the Pacific 8 crown and Richmond can take sole possession of the Southern Conference title by beating William and Mary.

The other two Top Ten teams in action figure to have easy times as third-ranked Penn State plays at Pittsburgh and eighth-ranked Tennessee hosts Kentucky, Georgia, No. 5, Texas, No. 6 and Notre Dame, No. 10, are idle.

Ohio State, 8-0, despite 13 sophomores in the first 22, rules a six-point favorite for the showdown against Michigan in the 65th renewal of their rivalry that will be played before a record crowd of 85,000-plus, but no television audience.

Kansas, with Orange Bowl date against Penn State already tucked away, and Missouri, headed for the Gator Bowl against Alabama, square off in Columbia, Mo., in another old and bitter rivalry. Each is 5-1 in the Big Eight and the winner gets at least a share of the title. Oklahoma, 4-1, which earned a date in the Bluebonnet bowl by beating Kansas and Missouri the last two Saturdays, entertains Nebraska in the first half of a television doubleheader. The Sooners need a victory over the Cornhuskers and one over Oklahoma State the following Saturday for at least a part of the title.

Arkansas, 5-1 in the Southwest Conference, needs a victory over Texas Tech, 4-2, to assure at least a tie with Texas for the crown. Texas finished against Texas A&M next Thursday. The conference winner—Texas has beaten Arkansas—is bound for the Cotton Bowl against Tennessee while the loser is scheduled for the Sugar Bowl against Georgia.

Yale and Harvard each enter their big one at Cambridge, Mass., at 8-0 overall and 6-0 in league play, with Yale favored by a touchdown with Brian Dowling and Cal Hill against the Harvard defense and Vic Gallo. Wyoming, 6-0 in the conference and host Arizona, 4-0, meet under the lights.

In tonight's only major game, Vanderbilt plays at Davidson.

Atlanta Has Vaulted Into Second Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Atlanta stopped fighting and started firing... and vaulted into second place in the national Basketball Association's Western Division race.

The Hawks spotted Detroit a 12-points head in the second quarter Thursday night, before erupting with a rally that carried them to a 129-121 victory. That boosted Atlanta—involved in a brawl with New York the night before—into second place, five games behind Los Angeles but only .003 percentage points ahead of third-place San Francisco.

Chicago spilled Milwaukee 120-111 in the night's only other NBA game. Over in the American Basket-

Porks Have a Lock on Sugar Bowl

By HARRY KING

Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas, win or lose Saturday against Texas Tech, apparently has a lock on the Sugar Bowl. Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles "I think it's good to get the bowl out of the way," says Broyles, he means to concentrate entirely on Tech.

He also might be remembering Tech spoiling Arkansas' bowl hopes the past two years. The Red Raiders knocked the Razorbacks out of the Cotton Bowl in 1966 and deprived them of a Liberty Bowl bid last year.

"Frank's in a favorable position," says King. "He's got one regardless, and that's good. I approve of that. It's excellent for him and the league."

The Razorbacks could assure themselves at least a share of their sixth Southwest Conference championship in 10 years with a victory over Tech.

Tech, on the other hand, also entertains bowl hopes. A victory over Arkansas coupled with a loss by Texas on Thanksgiving would put the Red Raiders in the Cotton Bowl. They are also reportedly under consideration for the Liberty Bowl and the Sun Bowl.

Considering these regards Broyles does not expect the Raiders to be down although they were upset 42-28 last week by Baylor.

"It's going to be tough," says Broyles. King says, however, that the Red Raiders can't afford to think about bowl games.

"If those things come, fine," he said. "You do first things first." He wrapped up the feelings of both coaches by saying, "Win this one and that would take care of a lot of things."

Stanfield No Fun for the Bruins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Boston's Fred Stanfield is doubling his pleasure and that's no fun for the Bruins' National Hockey League opponents.

Stanfield scored two goals for the second straight game Thursday night leading Boston to a 4-1 victory over the Los Angeles Kings. In other NHL games Thursday, Montreal grabbed the East Division lead by shutting out Philadelphia 3-0 and Pittsburgh halted an eight-game winless streak with a 3-1 triumph over Oakland.

Los Angeles managed only 19 shots on goal and Boston goalie Gerry Cheevers had to face only one shot in the second period.

The Kings had taken a 1-0 lead on Bill Flett's first-period goal. But Stanfield's eighth goal of the season tied the score and then Eddie Shack and Phil Esposito gave the Bruins the lead before the second period was over. Stanfield hit again in the final 20 minutes.

Montreal moved past idle New York on Gump Worsley's first shutout of the season. Worsley turned aside 22 Philadelphia shots while Bobby Rousseau, John Ferguson and Gilles Tremblay scored for the Canadiens.

Power play goals by Gene Ubriaco and Dunc McCallum helped Pittsburgh past Oakland. The Seals took the early lead on Norm Ferguson's goal but Ubriaco tied the score for Pittsburgh.

Behind 58-45 with 45 seconds left in the opening half, Atlanta whipped in five straight points before intermission, then outscored the Pistons 38-24 in the third quarter to take a comfortable lead.

Milwaukee's Eastern Division tallenders trailed by as much as 18 points before staging a futile rally against Chicago. The Bucks' Guy Rodgers scored 14 of his 29 points in the final quarter surge that pulled Milwaukee within three points, 91-88.

But four baskets by the Bulls' Dave Newmark, a seven-foot rookie, thwarted that threat.

CHECKING THE JUMP SCHEDULE before loading up with a stick of sky divers are Lucinda and Dale Gates. On this flight, Dale will pilot the airplane while his wife stays on the ground to monitor the drop zone.

Likes Porks Over Tech by Four Points

By HARRY KING

Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks have been virtually assured of a Sugar Bowl bid.

But, the Razorbacks want more—they want at least a share of the Southwest Conference championship.

Arkansas can clinch a portion of the title with a victory over Texas Tech Saturday at Lubbock, Tex. A victory would also mean a 9-1 record and assurance that the ninth-ranked Razorbacks would finish in the top ten.

Tech, however, isn't likely to play dead. The Red Raiders would be in the bowl picture with a victory over Arkansas and they still entertain the hope of slipping into the Cotton Bowl. Should Tech beat Arkansas and Texas A&M upset Texas Thanksgiving, then the Red Raiders would be the host team in the Dallas classic.

The Red Raiders are a lot like Texas—they run the ball right at their opponents, with power.

Arkansas' defense was superb for three quarters last week, blanking high-scoring SMU until the fourth period. The Mustangs, however, don't possess the running game of the Raiders.

Tech knocked Arkansas out of the Cotton Bowl in 1966 and kept the Razorbacks from receiving a Liberty Bowl bid last year.

Those two games the conference championship should be incentive enough for the Razorbacks.

ARKANSAS 28, TECH 24. Ouchita can nail down a share of the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference championship with a victory over crosstown rival Henderson.

Henderson quarterback Tommy Hart and the rest of the Reddies' offensive team will give the Tigers' defense a thorough test. The Tigers know what is at stake.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — (NEA) — When not playing football, Harvard defensive end John Cramer is a boxer. In fact, he has won the school's intramural heavyweight title the last two years.

"The reason I box is that it helps my football," he says, adding: "The only person who is concerned about it is my mother. I guess she thought I'd be sipping tea in the afternoon."

Hope Cagers in Spirited Workout

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Showing sparks of a fast-moving offense which gets its first test next Tuesday, the Hope Bobcats ran through a spirited intrasquad game at Jones Field House last night, with the Reds outlasting the Whites 47-35.

Led by much-improved junior guard Johnny Johnson, the Reds broke open a 19-19 halftime tie. Both teams were under the direction of new Head Coach Durward Bourns, who freely substituted among the 18 boys which are out for basketball before the footballers arrive next week.

With a starting five of Johnson, Ricky Putman, Terry Turner, Freddy McManus, and Thomas Norvell, the Reds had a slight edge in power on the backboards as Coach Bourns got his first look at the team in a game experience.

Connecting on some 38 percent of their shots in the second half after the Whites had kept up with a 44 percent first half, the Reds ran off a 19-13 third quarter margin to make it 38-32 with eight minutes left.

Everyone got a good chance to play, as the final minutes were played on relatively even terms. Johnson led the Reds with 19 points, and Ricky Putman had 10. McManus contributed eight more, and Turner and Norvell collected six and four points, respectively.

For the Whites soph Charles Frazier led the way with 10 points, and Parker Powell threw in six. Finally Mike Larramore and Tommy Adams rounded out the leaders with five each.

In the Lady Cats' practice game, the Reds were victorious over the Blues by 37-24 count.

Showing the effects of having no returning starters from last year, Coach Charlotte Gibson's girls were unable to move the scoreboard very fast, though in spots things looked very good. The Reds had very little problems in winning after they had moved to a 20-42 halftime lead behind the guard play of Sharon East and Juane Reynolds and the scoring of Jo McKamie. Jo led all scorers with 24 big points for the Reds, while Debbie Powell canned eight more and Mary Beth Mullican sacked five.

For the Blue squad senior forward Sandra Sallee fired in 14 points to take honors, followed by Dee Singleton with six and Eva Jo Hale with four. East led the guards with seven defensive rebounds, and on the offensive boards McKamie pulled off 11 and Singleton 7 rebounds.

The Senior Girls and the "B" squad open their season at Jones Field House next Tuesday night, playing host to Cale. The junior girls travel to Nashville this Saturday night for a jamboree with four teams represented. Hope meets Nashville for two quarters at 7:00 p.m., then later on the girls take on either the winner or loser of the Mineral Springs-DeQueen game.

Apparently Nobody Can Stop Barry

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Denver held sensational Rick Barry to 14 field goals Thursday night. So what happened? Barry simply cannot 20 of 22 free throws for 48 points in leading rambling Oakland to a 125-114 victory in the American Basketball Association.

The triumph was the 12th in 14 games for the Oaks, who have a five-game lead over New Orleans and Los Angeles in the Western Division.

Jimmy Jones scored 39 points to lead New Orleans past Indiana 129-117 and New York stopped Dallas 117-104 in the night's other games.

In the National Basketball Association, Atlanta tripped Detroit 129-121 and Chicago whipped Milwaukee 120-111.

Barry scored 14 of his points in the last quarter to thwart a Rocket rally. Denver, behind 80-75, strung together 12 straight points, most of them by Lonnie Wright, and eventually took a 92-88 lead with 11:15 left.

But then Barry and Warren Armstrong teamed in a spree that put the Oaks back on top, and Oakland pushed its lead to 14 points with 1:22 left.

Wright finished with 37 points. New York grabbed a first-quarter lead, then fended off every Dallas effort to catch up as the Nets won only their fifth game in 12 starts.

Bob Verga and Maurice McHartley, a couple of ex-Dallas players, came back to haunt the Chaps. Verga whipped in 20 points in the first half before he was sidelined with an ankle injury, and McHartley led all shooters with 25.

Ron Boone was the high scorer with 21.

Jones hit seven of 10 shots in the final quarter to lead New Orleans from behind and past the Pacers.

Trailing 94-91 at the start of the quarter, Jones' hot shooting quelled the Buds to a 98-95 lead with 10:08 remaining. New Orleans then gradually built the lead with Jones leading the way.

Mal Daniels scored 37 for Indiana, while Red Robbins had 24 and Steve Jones 23 for New Orleans.

There are 88 constellations.

Girl Jockey Disappointed, Disgusted

By JOHN FOX
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A "disappointed and disgusted" Penny Ann Early, thwarted in her latest attempt to become America's first woman flat-track thoroughbred jockey, says she does not intend to give up.

Miss Early, 25, was scheduled to ride Witness in Thursday's ninth race at Churchill Downs, but the race was canceled because riders could not be found for the other horses in the race.

"They (the jockeys) are calling themselves men, but I have no respect for them as riders or men," Miss Early said after the race had been called off. "None of them could look me in the eye."

She said she intends to remain available to ride through Saturday, the last day of the fall meet at Churchill Downs.

After Saturday, Miss Early said she would rest for a short while, then go to California and apply for a jockey license there.

"I hope it's different," she said about California. "I hope they've got a different class of people there."

She added she hoped to ride at Santa Anita which begins its racing season in December.

Thursday's cancellation was the latest in a series of disappointments for the pretty blonde divorcee.

Miss Early had been expected to ride last Saturday but her mount was scratched because of track conditions. Tuesday, she was replaced aboard another horse by the regular jockey.

Informed sources at Churchill Downs said Thursday's cancellation came only after a day-long effort to assure that Miss Early would have a chance to ride. Originally, she was scheduled to ride in the fourth race.

When jockeys couldn't be found for other horses in the race, it was postponed and made the ninth on the card.

The delay meant little. Late Thursday afternoon the Churchill Downs track announcer revealed the ninth race had been canceled.

The announcement greeted with boos and catcalls from the stands.

Individual jockeys had threatened to boycott any race in which Miss Early was entered. The threat did not materialize until Thursday.

When it did, the race became the first in some time to be canceled at the home of the Kentucky Derby.

Track officials were unable immediately to name the last date when a race had been called off.

"I'm not out on a crusade for women," Miss Early said after being notified. "I just want to ride."

About a 10th of the world is covered by ice.

Nothing New in Dancer's Hearing

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Although the stakes are high, Peter Fuller seldom changes expression as he listens to a daily replay of events before and after the Kentucky Derby.

Fuller's composure did slip slightly Thursday when his attorney, Arthur W. Grafton, told the Kentucky Racing Commission that there was only one important issue in the case before it.

Fuller nodded vigorously as Grafton remarked: "only one man in the whole United States has said that, from his own knowledge, Dancer's Image had Phenylbutazone in his urine, that man is Kenneth Smith."

Smith, official chemist for Churchill Downs, reported the presence of the drug in the horse's urine after the Derby and Fuller was deprived of the $122,600 first prize. He is now appealing this action.

Grafton's remarks came near the close of his interrogation of Smith, who has insisted that the five tests run in his laboratory proved "without a doubt" that the drug was in the urine.

In hammering away at this testimony, Grafton pointed out that Smith, when he appeared before the Churchill Downs steward, claimed that he had run only five tests but now was contending that others had been made on the Monday following the Derby.

After Smith made his report on the presence of the medication in the horse, the stewards held a hearing and called for a redistribution of the purse with the winner's share going to Forward Pass.

ly gaining favor.
Q—Would a severe case of typhoid at the age of 14 leave any bad effects that would show up in later years?

A—Early diagnosis and prompt treatment usually prevents complications from this disease. In some victims joint pains or gall-bladder disease coming on several years after an attack may be a result of the infection.

Opening lead—A Q

South looked at the dummy and decided that luck was surely running against him. He had one consolation. Had he used Blackwood he would have found that his side held all the aces and kings and might have gone all they way to seven.

His first thought was to concede down one and get on with the next deal. Then he decided to play on and hope that his opponents would discard idiotically. He ran off all his spades and his last high club but nothing good happened. West hung on to a diamond stopper and East to a heart stopper and declarer was down one.

It was too much to expect that East and West could possibly go wrong in discarding on the five rounds of trumps. However, there was a way to make the contract.

South should have drawn two, three or four rounds of trumps. Then he should have cashed all his top cards in the side suits. After all this he could have led either a heart or a diamond and instead of being down one he would have made his slam.

Due to the fact that West held the remaining hearts and East the diamonds, there was no way for the player who won that red suit trick to lead the other red suit. He would have to lead either a third club or a fourth card in his own long red suit. Either way South would be able to ruff in one hand and discard his remaining red suit loser from the other.

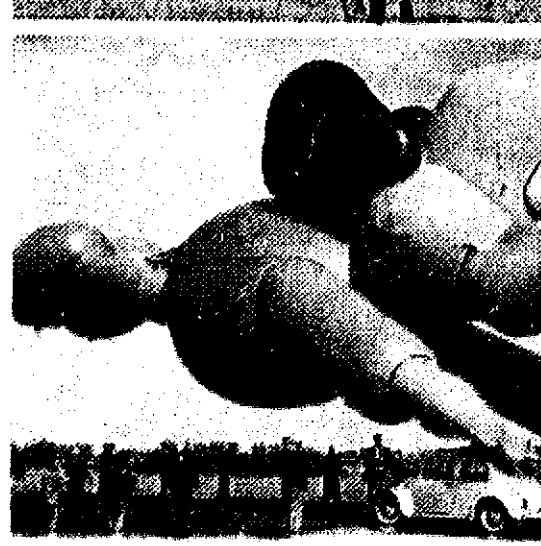

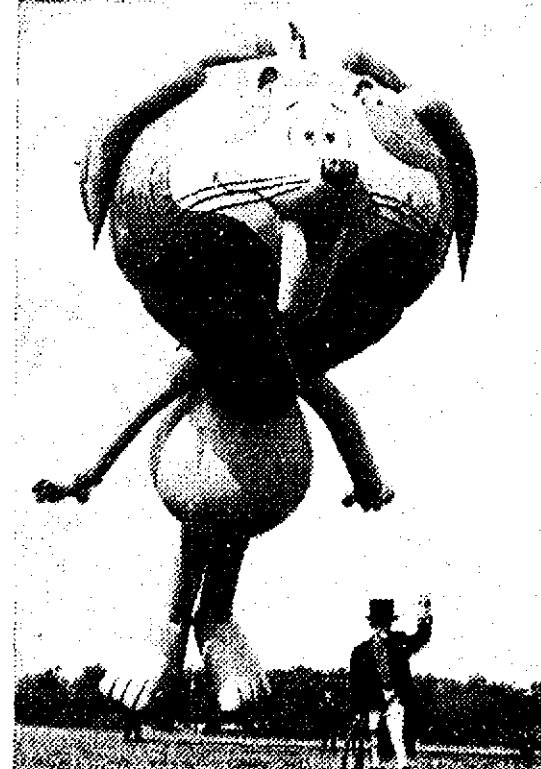

This result would come from good luck. On the other hand South was certainly unlucky to find North with exactly the same number of cards in each suit that he himself held. Put a third club in the North hand and the slam would be a spread.

WELL-KNOWN GASBAGS prepare to soar again. Millions of youngsters and the young at heart have thrilled to the huge figure balloons that bob and weave down Broadway during New York City's Thanksgiving Day parade. This year's event will feature such cartoon favorites as Linus the Lion, Snoopy the Bear, Underdog and Dingo the Dinosaur. As much as eight months' labor goes into each of the Goodyear creations, which have been a highlight of the holiday parade since 1937.

Esophagus Obstruction May be Vomiting Cause

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What would cause one to vomit when drinking water on an empty stomach? The water has been tested and is O.K.

A—This may be a sign of obstruction in the esophagus or the outlet of the stomach and should be checked by X rays. In a very sensitive person, it may occur when ice-cold water is downed very rapidly.

Q—In a recent column you recommended walnut juice for vitiligo. How much should I take at a time? Is vitiligo caused by a vitamin deficiency?

A—The cause is unknown. You, South, hold:
A Q 10 8 5 4 ♥ A 10 ♦ 5 3 ♣ 7 6 5 4
What do you do now?

A—Bid four clubs. You appear to be bidding a lot with your nothing hand but you may well have just the right cards for a club slam.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner continues to four spades. What do you do now?

Aid Formula to Promote Consolidation

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Legislative Council Wednesday was presented a new formula for distributing state aid to school districts that would promote the consolidation or annexation of some districts.
The council accepted the report from a citizens' committee appointed by the council last year. The council did not vote on whether to recommend it to the legislature.
Under the new proposal, each district would get a grant of $130 per pupil in average daily attendance. The remaining aid would be distributed by taking the assessed valuation of a school district and dividing that by the average daily attendance of the district to determine the assessed valuation per pupil in average daily attendance. The lower the assessed valuation per pupil, the greater the state aid per pupil.
Dr. W. J. Ketz of Batesville, chairman of the citizens' committee, said that under the formula, 129 of the state's school districts would get less money and the other 266 districts would get more.
Ketz said the districts that would be hurt are the smallest ones that are consistently losing population. He said the plan is spread over a five-year period to allow them to make some adjustment, such as consolidation.

HOUSEWIFE IS 'ENROLLED' IN Electoral College

By NOEL GROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—It was at a party Oct. 17 that Mrs. Esther Kominers first heard she would be a Maryland elector for president of the United States.

"We had decided that the precinct committeeman for whichever precinct turned in the most money in our annual 'Dollars for Democrats' drive would be named Democratic elector from our district," said Richard Schiffer, chairman of the local chapter of the Maryland Democratic State Central Committee.

Mrs. Kominers' precinct was the most generous to the party coffers, having coughed up about $2,000.

Thus did the homemaker, faithful party worker and wife of a Bethesda, Md., attorney join the rolls of the Electoral College. The United States Constitution had once again worked its will.

Having agreed back in 1787 to create the office of president, the founding fathers could not agree on how he should be chosen. There was sentiment for a popular vote, but they worried that the nation's citizenry was still too "uninformed" and could be easily "misled by a few designing men."

They compromised by placing the actual choice of a president in the hands of a political elite, the Electoral College, but leaving the method of choosing electors up to the states. Some opted for popular vote from the very start. In others, the legislatures initially selected presidential electors. Whatever the method, the electors were the ones Whose Vote Really Counts, as every American schoolchild eventually learns.

Maryland leaves naming of electoral states up to the political parties. Maryland Democrats leave it up to each of their 10 districts. Republicans select theirs at their state convention in the spring, although those selected will serve no purpose this year since Hubert Humphrey carried the state.

The selection process differs from state to state, and party to party. Alabama Democrats elected their electors in the Democratic primary. Ohio electors of both parties, by state law, must be chosen at the state convention, with special provision this year for George Wallace's American Independent party, which held no convention and barely squeaked on the ballot by court order.

Maryland further complicates Mrs. Kominers' job by stating that electors must cast their votes for the candidate they are pledged to support, one of 17 states that has such a law.

"The law has never been tested," said Jason Berman, aide to Sen. Birch Bayh (D-Ind.), who proposes an election law change. "But it's doubtful that it would stand up, since constitutionally the idea of electors was to give them complete freedom of choice."

For all their significance in the process of selecting presidents and vice-presidents, electors today participate in what is probably the greatest anticlimax in American political machinery. The popular vote balloting provides all the fireworks. By the time those Whose Vote Really Counts have their say, they do so in virtual obscurity, ignored by a campaign-fatigued public that already knows the outcome. The elite image of the elector has faded badly since 1787.

In Michigan in 1948, Electoral College day fell on a stormy December day and many of the state's 26 "elite" didn't even show to cast their ballots for Thomas E. Dewey, who had carried the state over Harry Truman. Officials began grabbing electors off the street, the only requirement being that they be Republicans.

One of them was about to cast his electoral vote for Truman, believing that whoever carried the national popular vote was supposed to receive the electoral vote automatically. Officials quickly set him straight.

"I don't know anything about what I'm supposed to do," admitted Mrs. Kominers, several days after the national election. "I suppose I should learn by Dec. 16."

A letter of instruction later sent to her and the nine other Democratic electors, however, gave an explanation. In Maryland on Dec. 16, as in every other state, electors will go to their state capital, meet in a room, and cast their votes orally or by written ballot.

"I, Mrs. Esther Kominers, cast my vote for president of the United States for . . . and later, the same procedure is carried out for vice-president. Results are then sent to the secretary of the U. S. Senate, where they are tallied before Congress."

Despite the thrill of being named a participant, Mrs. Kominers was reluctant to accept at first.

Be Ye Thankful

The human is at his best when he prays... when he reaches up to the Divine. That's when time becomes part of eternity. As when the pilgrims were struggling to make a go of it and even more so, we need to pause, take stock and thank God. Gratitude is a high virtue. Our cause to praise God is great. Our fathers bequeathed us rich land, good example and sustaining ideals. We must not inherit one without the other. The generous harvest of every year is ours and His. And His is the larger part for God has always been at work. What have we done to merit such blessing? We should join the call to worship this Thanksgiving Day, in the church of our choice... Consider why we should prosper as no other people on earth, fall on our knees and speak loud our thanks to the God of all. Your own soul will be aglow and your Thanksgiving dinner will have more taste if you will first remember Him, and if you will feed and clothe some other person, in His Name. This stimulating fellowship with God and our fellows could make this our greatest Thanksgiving Day. Then, "Come, ye Thankful people, come, and raise the song of Thanksgiving."

These businessmen listed below urge everyone to get behind the churches. They alone provide a solution to the problems facing us.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

We who observe the speaker more than the sound of his words, will seldom meet with disappointments.— Lavater said it.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

Rev. W.M. Raderford of Magnolia, Arkansas will preach at the Mt. Pleasant C.M.E. Church Thursday November 28th (Thanksgiving night) at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend, Rev. W.T. Keyes, pastor.

The annual Yerger Shover P.T.A. banquet will be held in the lunch room tonight at 7:30, Mrs. R. N. Coulter of Tolette, Arkansas will be the speaker.

COMING AND GOING

Mrs. Mary Smith of 822 Berry street, has as house guest her niece, Mrs. Martha A. Jeffries, a Registered Nurse of Rockford, Illinois. According to Mrs. Jeffries, "she is enjoying the sunshine and lovely weather in Hope."

OBITUARY

Funeral service for Edgar Gamble who died November 17th, will be held at the Mt. Moriah C.M.E. Church, Academy, near Washington, Sunday November 24th, at 2:30 p.m. Burial is Mt. Moriah Cemetery, Hicks Funeral Home, Inc., in charge.

Classroom Named for Dr. King

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The main classroom building at California State College at Los Angeles is being renamed Martin Luther King Memorial Hall. The five-story building, now called North Hall houses the schools of education, letters and sciences.

After 132 Years Store Closes

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A bookstore which opened 132 years ago as a sidewalk stall closed its doors forever Wednesday.

Leary's Book Store, which sold second-hand books, was purchased by Gimbels Inc., last July for $103,000.

When the closing hour arrived, 11 Leary employees walked solemnly out the front door.

Sex-Change Operations Common Now

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Surgeons at Johns Hopkins Medical Center's "gender identity clinic" have been performing sex-change operations since July 1966.

The program, first of its kind in the United States, was undertaken to help transsexuals—persons of one sex who feel, behave and dress as a member of the opposite sex.

Both men and women have undergone operations at the clinic.

Dr. John E. Hoopes, a plastic surgeon who helped launch the program at Johns Hopkins, said hiring of Negro instructors, soon after the program began: more courses in Negro culture.

"After exhaustively reviewing and discussing the problem with people knowledgeable in this area, I arrived at the unavoidable conclusion that the doctors at Johns Hopkins say they have encountered no opposition to their program from religious groups.

It is not known how many persons have undergone sex-change surgery at the clinic.

However, it was reported at one point that the clinic examined only two patients a month and that it had a long waiting list.

Applicants receive a thorough physical and mental examination and only those who show no signs of psychosis and appear to have a degree of insight into their condition are accepted, the doctors say.

They also receive counseling and are told that these people need and

Two Colleges Close Due to Student Riots

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Police stood by at two of the nation's college campuses today and classes were suspended at a third following incidents of violence and demonstrations over Negro students' demands.

Officials at 18,000-student San Francisco State College called again for resumption of normal classes after some 200 young militants invaded classrooms and scuffled with armed police Thursday.

The president of racially tense Bluefield State College in Bluefield, W. Va., suspended classes for its 1,450 students today and Saturday after a bomb damaged the new physical education building Thursday night.

In Oshkosh, Wis., reinforced police patrolled 11,000-student Oshkosh State University overnight after demonstrators wrecked offices in an administration building. An estimated 102 students were arrested.

The vandalism broke out after the university president Roger Gules refused to sign a list of demands presented to him by a surgeon who helped launch the program at Johns Hopkins, said hiring of Negro instructors, soon after the program began: more courses in Negro culture.

Those arrested comprise nearly all of the university's Negro enrollment. White students and the Rev. James E. Gropp, who sought later to organize support for those in custody.

Gropp, a white Roman Catholic priest who is a familiar figure in civil rights campaigns, came from Milwaukee to arrange bail for the students. Charges included disorderly conduct, destruction of property and unlawful assembly.

At San Francisco State the demonstrators deserve help.

To reduce the chance of poor adjustment to the new sex after surgery, the committee considers only subjects who already are living as members of the opposite sex and receiving hormones.

Hope Junior High School Homecoming ceremonies began in Jones Field House, Sandy Flowers was the queen. Maids were Mona Rowe, Debbie Richardson, Judy Brown, Melissa Jordan, Cindy Hollis, and Judy Foley.

mands of the strikers, including the Black Students Union and other groups, are for the rehiring of a Black Panther member fired from the faculty for advising Negro students to carry guns on campus and the creation of a black students department.

Classes were held Thursday night and college president Robert D. Smith termed afternoon attendance "very good" in several departments. Three students were arrested.

The bomb at Bluefield State ripped through the walls and roof of the new building. College security officer Lloyd Davis said the explosive, apparently in a paper bag, could have been "six or seven sticks of dynamite."

No one was injured in the blast, the most serious incident in a series of threats and acts of vandalism dating back several months. City police were immediately put on seven-day shifts.

Dr. Wendell Hardway, white president of the integrated and predominantly white school, said "I never thought it would come to this." He recently received threats on his life.

About 450 of the 1,450 students are Negro. A spokesman who claimed to represent most of the Negroes presented Hardway a list of demands recently including ouster of Hardway's administration, improved food in the cafeteria and increased financial aid for Negro students.

West Virginia Gov. Hulet C. Smith said after the blast that his office had been told earlier of a bomb threat at the campus. State and city police officers were patrolling the campus when the bomb went off.

First Plan

The Articles of Confederation were the first plan for a government of the United States, written shortly after the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Jim Barnes Is the Best, All Agree

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The ideal guard in the pro-type offense should be strong enough to drop back and pass block and fast enough to lead sweeps.

Like Arkansas' Jim Barnes, Barnes, a 6-foot-4, 230-pounder, is one of the reasons the ninth-ranked Razorbacks have been successful with the pro attack.

"He's a good one," says offensive line coach Mervyn Johnson. "He has rather outstanding speed for a boy that size and he has good maneuverability. He is the ideal height and can run 40 yards in 4.9 or less."

Johnson says Barnes is a combination of Ernie Ruple and Dick Cunningham, two Arkansas tackles who are in the pros.

"He has the height and strength and explosiveness of Ruple but he's much faster," Johnson says. "And, he's much more agile and mobile than Cunningham."

"I think the pros will be very interested in him," Johnson said. "He can do a lot of things that they want right now."

Head coach Frank Broyles says Barnes is probably one of the best offensive linemen in the nation.

"The pro scouts who came by our spring workouts told us they thought Barnes was the best offensive guard in the country," Broyles says.

Barnes says he would like to try pro football and that his year's experience with the pro sweep and drop back blocking should stand him in good stead.

"I remember what Ruple told me after going out to San Francisco for the East-West Shrine game," Barnes said. "They used pro-type plays and he said he felt lost."

"And I know how hard it was for me to block while backing up last year," he said. "I could lead a linebacker and take him or get someone right on my nose, but protecting the passer on straight drop-backs came strange."

Arkansas will attempt to nail down at least a share of the Southwest Conference championship against Texas Tech Saturday at Lubbock, Texas.

"I know I'll have an empty feeling after the ball game—I know all the seniors will," Barnes said. "I'd like to remember it as Southwest Conference champions but there are not many people who get to remember it like that."

John Tyler, of all presidents of the United States, had the greatest number of children—16.

Matthews Sees New Party of Democrats

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Charles D. Matthews of North Little Rock, chairman of the state Democratic party, said Thursday night that a "New Democratic party" could be established by inviting all persons into the party.

Matthews said the party needs to "re-establish meaningful contact with the young and the Negro and yet maintain the traditional ties with its established and respected leaders."

Matthews made the remarks in a face-to-face confrontation with Republican state Chairman Odell Pollard.

Matthews said the phrases "old guard" and "new guard" should be abandoned.

"It would, therefore, appear to be a wise and judicious course to refer to the Democratic party which we are now trying to compose as a party of 'New Democrats,'" he said.

"New Democrats whether they be old or young, in office or out of office, experienced or eager to learn, black or white, rich or poor, but all New Democrats and all members of the New Democratic party of Arkansas," he said.

"The one thing that is going to distinguish this New Democratic party is that, rather than keeping people out, we are going to be inviting people in," he said.

Matthews and Pollard appeared on a program sponsored by the Little Rock Jaycees.

Pollard noted in his opening statement that one of the worthwhile developments of the 1968 elections was the emergence of such persons as Matthews and House Speaker Sterling R. Cockrill Jr. as leaders in the Democratic party.

He said, however, that he did

Troy Burson of Fulton, left, representing Hempstead County Farm Bureau on the Resolutions Committee of the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation, listens to discussion of a policy issue with Arkansas Farm Bureau staff member Embury Raley, during committee session at Little Rock. The 50-man committee prepared some 800 policy recommendations for consideration by voting delegates to the organization's state convention Nov. 25 at Hot Springs.

Newspaper Show Nothing Changes

NEW YORK (AP) — The newspaper headlines show New Yorkers reading about the Communist threat, civil rights, a society marriage and overcrowded streetcars. The date was 1874.

"Nothing changes," commented Gardner D. Stout, president of the American Museum of Natural History, as he read the 94-year-old accounts Thursday.

The newspapers were found along with some coins and other material in a copper box sealed in the museum's cornerstone in June 1874.

not think Marion H. Crank, the unsuccessful gubernatorial nominee, would "play dead."

Pollard also said Matthews had erred by saying that the Republicans had failed to become independent from the pocketbook of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

"It's true that Gov. Rockefeller has been most generous," Pollard said. "I do not think the party could have gained its position today without his vast resources. Gov. Rockefeller is genuinely concerned with establishing a two-party system in Arkansas."

"But he has never tried to dictate to party officials," Pollard said. "He has said to me that he hopes the party matures more and that it will be more self-sufficient."

Suit Deletes Little Rock Housing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The filing of a lawsuit against the Little Rock Housing Authority has apparently resulted in the deletion of Little Rock from a list of 23 cities selected to participate in the model cities program.

The Justice Department filed the suit Thursday in U.S. District Court at Little Rock. The suit contends that the Housing Authority is guilty of racially segregating its facilities.

Earlier Thursday, the Department of Housing and Urban Development said Little Rock was one of the cities selected in the model cities program. The agency removed Little Rock from the list later, however, citing the lawsuit as the reason.

The suit contends that four of the eight public housing projects at Little Rock are occupied by Negroes and that the other four contain only white persons except for one in which two Negro families live.

Little Rock Mayor Martin Borchert could not be reached for comment.

The original announcement said Little Rock would receive an original planning grant of $132,000 for its project in an area bordering on the Arkansas River east of Interstate 30.

George Millar, head of the Little Rock Housing Authority, said he was surprised by the suit. He said there was only one "bone of contention" between the Justice Department and the authority. Millar said he had been assured by the department that it would be several days before the suit would be filed.

The suit was the government's first desegregation suit filed against a public housing agency.

The suit says the Housing Authority pledged to HUD three years ago that it would comply with the 1964 Civil Rights Act, but that it still had not done so.

The suits asks the court to require officials "to take all reasonable steps to correct the effects of past discriminatory practices" and to direct the authority to halt the assignment of tenants on the basis of race.

The Little Rock projects accommodate 1,178 families, 750 of which are Negro.

The suit also contends that the hiring practices of the authority are discriminatory.

Our Daily Bread

Sliced Thin by The Editor
Alex. N. Washburn
All You Cooks —
Here's the Story of 'Dirty Rice'

One of the legends amateur cooks (your editor's son) encounter has to do with Louisiana's famed "dirty rice." It's a nickname given by World War II soldiers who trained at Camps Livingston, Polk, and Claiborne — and has nothing to do with sanitation.

The origin of the phrase was traced by the publication Foreign Agriculture and reprinted in the Rice Journal. The Rice Journal reprint was spotted by Mrs. Larry Burns, 615 S. Melton Dr., Jonesboro, Ark., and the article was forwarded with a note to her friend Mrs. J. Manuel Hamm 116 W. Ave. C, Hope, Mrs. Hamm sent the article on to me with the postscript:

"I thought you would enjoy reading this — since you have enjoyed (husband) Manny's 'dead duck, dirty rice, and burned gravy.'"

Here is the Rice Journal's reprint of "Origin of 'Dirty Rice'":

Dr. Hermann Deutsch, New Orleans columnist, author, and culinary expert, gives credit to Mrs. George M. Halk of New Orleans — a girl reared in Lafayette — for the most plausible explanation of the origin of the term "dirty rice" — in view of the absence of any other authoritative source.

"Mrs. Halk, authority on Creole cuisine, has been a thoughtful and earnest student of this topic for some time and has delved into all the research sources on the origins of various Creole specialties, such sources being very few and far between."

"Originally, what was known as rice dressing, or rice stuffing, was prepared by smothering various herbs in hot shortening — minced parsley, shallots, celery, bell pepper, and the like — along with chopped giblets and flour that was browned to make a dark roux. To this cooked rice was added, and enough water or soup stock to bind the whole. Naturally, various seasoning agents: salt, black or bird's eye or cayenne peppers, thyme, oregano, or whatever the cuisiniers who prepared the dish regarded as most pleasing to the palate."

"Frequently, especially among the plantation cabins, this dressing was prepared as the main dish of a meal, being mixed with possible with ground meat or other economy portion of beef, pork, sheep, or game. It was also served as a side dish in a number of the less pretentious small town restaurants throughout the Creole and Acadian parishes of South Central Louisiana."

"Rice had been introduced to the American cuisine largely from the Carolinas where a feudal plantation aristocracy raised it for the export trade, and for their own use. But during the years following the Revolutionary War, and the War of 1812, both of which were fought primarily along the Eastern seaboard, many Carolinians moved inland, bringing with them the seeds of their staple cash crop. In Southwest Louisiana they found conditions for rice culture more nearly ideal even than those in the low coastal areas of Carolina. In time Crowley became the rice capital of the hemisphere."

"Yet only in south Louisiana, where Spanish culture influence and culture leavened that of Creole France, did rice become a staple vegetable, highly prized not only for its nutrient value, but for its special virtue in taking on the flavor of any meat with which it has been cooked. Red beans and rice, prepared with a ham knuckle, or even ham hind, or pickled pork for flavoring, because the great economy dish of the entire Gulf coast wherever the creole-creole influence had made itself felt."

"The year 1940, when the first peace time draft in United States history was instituted, brought worlds of northerners, mid-westerners and far westerners to this part of the country — to Camp Shelby, Keosauqua Field, Camp Beauregard, Camp Livingston, Camp Polk, Gerstner Field, Harding Field and the like. Virtually none of these boys had ever been served rice as anything but a dessert."

"Those who came to NORA (New Orleans Recreational Area) commanded by the late Col. Bennett Moller, or to Lafayette from

New Blast in Mine Dims Hopes

By NILES JACKSON
Associated Press Writer
MANNINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — A new explosion, sending flames shooting upward like a flash of lightning, hit the coal mine today where 78 men have been trapped in burning passageways for two days.

The blast at 2:50 a.m. shook the company store more than four miles away.

It was the latest in a chain of explosions that started Wednesday morning and trapped 78 of the 93 men working the early shift in the Mountaineer Coal Co. No. 9 mine. The other 21 either escaped or were pulled from the mine.

"I felt the impact on my face," said 19-year-old Rich Opyoke who was standing on a bridge near the store.

Leonard Gross, publications director for Consolidation Coal Co., Mountaineer's parent firm, pinpointed the explosion at the intake shaft on Mod's Run, one of the many passageways of the sprawling mine complex spread over a seven-mile area.

"There has been no assessment of the intensity of the explosion," Gross said immediately after the blast. "However, it was reported that flames erupted from the portal."

He said this was the spot where experiments have been under way in trying to control the fire in the mine shafts by cutting off the oxygen.

"This was a relatively strong blast," Gross added, indicating it was much stronger than one last night. He said it might be "several hours" before the severity of the blast can be assessed.

"It is apparent that the fire is still in the shaft," he continued. "White smoke in the shaft indicates that there is still fire underground."

At 4:30 a.m. another light explosion, called a "pop off" in the coal fields, occurred. It was also on Mod's Run where the big blast took place earlier.

The larger explosion blew from the portal, a steel plate—almost one-half inch thick—which had sealed it earlier. Steel beams weighing a total of 26 tons covered the plate and the blast wrenched it all from the opening.

The explosion came nine hours after another blast—small but forceful sent fire and smoke churning from another mine entrance.

Old Santa Cranks Up Reindeer Jolly Well Too Soon for Some

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — A lot of people are already cranky at Santa Claus this year.

The jolly old saint appears to have hopped up his reindeer jolly well too soon for some tastes. They would prefer to keep him leashed to the North Pole a bit longer.

The great stores along Fifth Avenue, one of the world's most famous shopping thoroughfares, once appeared to have a tacit agreement not to put their Christmas decorations until after

They were enchanted with its exotic seasonings. Returning to their barracks they reported: "If I'll go to Lafayette (Breaux Bridge, New Iberia, Opelousas, St. Martinville, etc.) try the rice at such and such a cafe. But not any white rice. Make 'em give you that dirty rice."

"The soldiers thus came to these cafes and asked for 'Dirty Rice.' The name stuck. It is not recalled that the term was used prior to World War II. Hence, Mrs. Halk's explanation has generally been accepted."

Nixon Enlists 100 Leaders to Aid His Legislative Program

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon has enlisted more than 100 leaders of business, education and industry to frame recommendations for the legislative program of his new administration.

Their findings as to what Nixon can do, and when, and his suggestions as to what he should do, are to reach the president-elect and his staff beginning in early December as confidential reports are turned in by 10 task forces.

Back in New York after six days of rest, reading and conferences in Key Biscayne, Fla., Nixon planned to work today at his headquarters in the Hotel Pierre.

Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon's spokesman, said he would be operating there next week, and broadening his contacts to include more visitors from outside his own circle of advisors.

Ziegler announced the details of a Nixon task force operation covering an array of issues from the budget to the environment. But while the machinery was disclosed, task force chairmen apparently were under instructions not to talk about the trend of their thinking on the issues involved.

For example, Norman Ture, chairman of a panel on tax legislation, said he could not disclose whether his group is preparing a tax reform plan, a step promised by campaigner Nixon in Atlanta on Oct. 3. Nixon also advocated an end to the 10 per cent income surtax.

Ture is an economist with the planning Research Corp. of Arlington, Va.

Ziegler said when the reports are completed, they will go to Nixon, his White House staff-designates, and to the Cabinet officer responsible for the area involved.

Paul W. McCracken, professor of economics at the University of Michigan graduate school of business administration is chairman of the entire operation.

He is considered a likely Nixon choice for assignment in the new administration, possibly in the Council of Economic Advisors.

The task force studies now under way: manpower and labor-management relations, fiscal policy, taxes, intergovernmental fiscal relations, public welfare, federal lending and loan guarantee programs, the environment, organization of the executive branch, transportation, and housing and urban renewal.

Ziegler said other studies will be launched later, dealing primarily with social problems.

French to Devalue the Franc

By GEORGE THOMSON

BONN, Germany (AP) — The French franc will be devalued, West German Finance Minister Franz Josef Strauss said today.

He told reporters the French Cabinet will have to decide the extent of the devaluation.

He spoke at the three-day emergency conference on the international monetary crisis was ending.

Informants said after Thursday's 17-hour session it appeared the franc would be reduced either by 10 per cent, from 20 cents to 18 cents, or by 15 per cent to 17 cents.

A spokesman for the office of French Premier Maurice Couveur Murville said in Paris there would be no announcement until after the French Cabinet meets on Saturday.

To bolster the new value of the franc, the 10 nations at the conference were getting together a line of credit in other currencies which France could use to halt the flight of capital from French banks.

A West German source said $2 billion would be subscribed by

May Be First Person in Medical History to Survive Rabies

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — In a hospital here a 25-year-old woman may become a significant part of medical history. If Candida de Souza Barbosa lives, doctors say, she will be the first person on record to have survived rabies.

Over a month ago Candida, who makes her meager living by patching clothes, was bitten on the foot by a stray dog as she passed through a park. Such things are not out of the ordinary in a city where stray dogs abound, and she soon forgot about the incident.

Thirty days later she began to feel nervous and agitated, later developing pains and partial paralysis which made it impossible for her to get out on bed.

Doctors from Francisco de Castro Hospital, which specializes in rabies, found that the girl had contracted the disease. A team of surgeons headed by Dr. Rafael Aguiar Cal performed a unique brain operation in an attempt to save Candida's life. Making two small holes in her head, they inserted two plastic tubes and pumped in hyperimmune antirabies gamma globulin.

That was Nov. 9. Today, Candida shows every sign of recovery, and her doctors say she is probably out of danger.

er Thanksgiving.

This year many of the decorations were not only up but lit from a week to two weeks before the arrival of our annual harvest celebration.

"What is happening to Thanksgiving?" ask some, annoyed at what seems to them the premature forcing of Christmas.

One answer would seem to be that Thanksgiving has been run over by the blind-and-run triumphant sled of Santa Claus and may thereby have been left permanently crippled, unless stern measures are taken from its rehabilitation.

Each year people are made less and less aware of the approach of Thanksgiving. If the stores have their windows full of holly wreaths, where will they find room to display the symbols of Thanksgiving—the ripened ears of corn, the golden pumpkin, the pictures of the fat turkey, the paintings of the Pilgrim family trudging off to church or feasting with the Indians?

It would be sad indeed if this spirit of our most typical of American holidays should be diminished in importance, perhaps reduced even to the mockery celebration of Halloween.

Officials Feel U.S. Dollar Will Escape World Money Crisis

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Administrative officials predict that the U.S. dollar will come unscathed through the world's latest currency crisis.

They admit to long-range concern over the possibility that any reduction of the French franc's value might start devaluations snowballing in other countries and eventually jar the dollar.

"But it seems quite unlikely to develop that way," one high administration source said. "The dollar isn't the centerpiece of this affair, as it was last March. We're on the sidelines; even gold doesn't seem to be terribly involved."

Officials showed relief, however, at strong indications from the meeting of the so-called "Group of 10" financial powers in Bonn that means of shoring up the shaky franc were being devised without resort to French devaluation—or to the solution which France favors, an upward revaluation of the German mark.

For the American-in-the-street, neither of those shifts in currency value would have a significant effect unless, somehow, the whole international monetary structure became involved.

The long-range worry of officials at the U.S. Treasury and Federal Reserve Board goes beyond France and Germany. It centers on Britain, whose exports are rising and trade balance improving since the devaluation of sterling.

But Britain is not yet far enough along the road to monetary stability to easily withstand a French devaluation. If the franc became so cheap that England's customers began to desert her and turn to France, Britain might have to devalue again.

"In that case there'd be a good chance of snowballing depreciations around the world," one Administration official conceded privately.

"Then there would be another flight of speculators to convert paper currencies into gold, and it is quite likely that the dollar would be among the currencies coming under attack."

U.S. Treasury and Reserve Board officials view such a dollar crisis as the unlikely result of a long chain of unlikely developments. And Thursday's word from Bonn — indicated that agreements are being reached to prop up the franc without resort to devaluation — bolster the Washington opinion that this crisis, like that of March, will be passed safely.

Elderly Pair Tortured, Murdered

TUCKAHOE, N.J. (AP) — An elderly couple were found tied, tortured and murdered in their burning house Thursday night in this isolated Cape May County community, police said.

Fire department officials from nearby Ocean City said they responded to an alarm at Clarkson's Nursery farm off Route 49 and found Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Clarkson, both in their 60s, in the first floor front room of their home.

Ocean City Fire Chief Ferdinand Taccarino said the bodies were removed before they were burned by the fire, which he said started in the front room.

Another spokesman for the fire department said, "The house was set on fire. We are sure of that."

Witnesses said the woman had a red handkerchief tied around her eyes. They said both were bound and gagged.

Taccarino said firemen worked for two hours before bringing the fire under control early today, but that the 1½-story frame house was destroyed.

British Hike Taxes on Many Items

LONDON (AP) — Chancellor of the Exchequer Roy Jenkins flew back today from the money crisis talks in Bonn and announced heavy new taxes on beer, whisky, cigarettes and gasoline to right Britain's foreign payments deficit.

Jenkins made clear this was the price Britain must pay as its contribution to ending the monetary crisis hitting the French franc.

The suit didn't say Allison was involved in the alleged altercation. The other defendants were Arthur Lee Newton, Ellis Mitchell, Otis Allen, John Brandon and James Lemley.

The all-male white jury deliberated one hour and 20 minutes.

The policemen who testified Thursday said Mrs. Crowell refused to sign a traffic ticket after she was stopped for not having a driver's license. They said Mrs. Crowell resisted arrest.

4 American Helicopters Shot Down

By GEORGE ESTER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that four American helicopters have been shot down in the past 48 hours and American artillery fired into the northern half of the demilitarized zone for the first time since the bombing halt three weeks ago.

The command said the Americans opened up on guns in the North Vietnamese half of the DMZ after they fired on U.S. reconnaissance planes. But it denied Communist charges that North Vietnamese villages were sh
